BUSY BIN

As the kids arrive, they will stop by the table to pick up a snack and a drink. Each classroom will have building materials for the kids to use to build the longest, tallest, strongest wall possible. Tell the kids that today we will be learning how God chose a man named Nehemiah to lead His people in rebuilding the walls around Jerusalem.

INTRODUCTION TO THE LESSON

Have you ever been discouraged while doing something challenging? Maybe it was a hard school assignment or a game that didn't go your way. How did you deal with discouragement? Today we will hear how a man named Nehemiah led God's people through discouragement and the difficult task of rebuilding the walls

BACKGROUND INFO FOR LEADERS

Due to Judah's disobedience and refusal to repent, the judgment outlined in Deuteronomy 28 was fulfilled. In 587/586 BC, the Babylonians invaded Judah, destroyed Jerusalem, and exiled most of the population to Babylon. However, in 539 BC, the Persians overthrew the Babylonians and inherited control of Judah and its exiles. In 538 BC, King Cyrus of Persia issued a decree allowing the exiles to return to their homeland, marking the end of captivity and the long-awaited return to the Promised Land. The books of Ezra and Nehemiah recount the exiles' return and their struggle to rebuild Jerusalem, the temple, and their society.

The book of Nehemiah approaches many of the same themes found in Ezra but from a different angle. While Ezra focuses on rebuilding the temple and its furnishings, Nehemiah's focus is on rebuilding Jerusalem's walls and gates. God empowered Nehemiah to complete the task in a miraculously short period, despite hostile opposition from several regional powers.

The return to Judah happened in three major waves. The first wave, led by Zerubbabel in 538 BC after Cyrus' decree, concentrated on rebuilding the temple. Opposition halted construction temporarily, but prophets Haggai and Zechariah encouraged the people to resume work, and the temple was completed in 515 BC (Ezra 6:13-15). The second wave, led by the priest Ezra, came in 458 BC (Ezra 7-10). While many Jews had returned to Jerusalem by then, reestablishing the city and, more importantly, the temple-centered worship of God was a long-term process. In 445 BC, Nehemiah led the third wave as governor, tasked with rebuilding the city walls. He found Jerusalem in ruins, with the temple in disrepair and the walls broken down with gaps. Nehemiah was sent by God to lead the people in this critical mission.

Nehemiah joined Ezra in trying to restore proper obedience to God's commands, particularly regarding keeping the Sabbath. While Nehemiah succeeded in rebuilding the walls and gates, both he and Ezra faced challenges in bringing the people back to the right worship of God. The exile had purged the people of idolatry, but problems like social injustice and religious ritualism persisted, and Nehemiah and Ezra struggled to address them.

While Nehemiah was serving as the cupbearer to King Artaxerxes of Persia, his brother, Hanani, visited him with troubling news from Jerusalem: "The survivors... are in great distress and reproach. The wall of Jerusalem is broken down, and its gates are burned" (Nehemiah 1:1-3). Upon hearing this, Nehemiah wept, fasted, and prayed, interpreting the state of Jerusalem as a sign of Israel's sin against God. He confessed the nation's failure to keep God's commands, recalling Moses' warning that exile would come if Israel disobeyed, but that God would show mercy if they repented (1:5-9).

BACKGROUND INFO FOR LEADERS

After days of fasting and prayer, Nehemiah sought God’s help in receiving favor from the king (1:5-11). As cupbearer, Nehemiah had access to the king and used his position to request leave to go to Jerusalem to rebuild the walls. When Nehemiah appeared before the king, looking troubled, the king asked why. Nehemiah explained the situation in Jerusalem and, after a silent prayer, asked for permission to return and rebuild. The king granted his request and even provided letters for safe passage and resources (2:1-8). When Nehemiah arrived in Jerusalem, he surveyed the damage in secret. After three days, he revealed his mission to the local leaders, explaining that the king had granted him permission to rebuild the city. Inspired by Nehemiah’s leadership, the people began working together to repair the walls and gates (2:11-3:32). Despite the enthusiasm, they faced intense opposition from local leaders like Sanballat, Tobiah, and Geshem, who mocked the Jews and accused them of rebelling against the king (4:1-3). Nehemiah responded confidently, declaring that God would grant them success (4:4-6). The rebuilding effort continued despite the opposition, and the community worked together in a unified effort, with each group repairing a different section of the wall. However, the constant threat of attack weighed heavily on the people. Nehemiah stationed guards at vulnerable points along the wall and encouraged the people: “Do not be afraid of them. Remember the Lord, who is great and awesome, and fight for your brothers, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your homes” (4:14).

Nehemiah’s leadership was crucial in keeping the people motivated. They prayed for God’s protection and continued working with one hand while holding weapons with the other (4:16-18). Despite repeated attempts by Sanballat and others to sabotage the project, Nehemiah stayed focused, refusing to meet with them or be swayed by their threats (6:1-9). His trust in God and unwavering determination allowed the walls to be completed in just 52 days—a feat that amazed even their enemies, who recognized that the work had been done with God’s help (6:15-16).

After the walls were rebuilt, Nehemiah organized the city’s defenses and began the process of reestablishing Jerusalem’s social and religious life. With the city secure, he appointed leaders and sought to restore the people’s commitment to God (7:1-5).

LOCATE THE SCRIPTURE & TELL THE STORY

Tell the story: Use the Background Info for Leaders or The Message Bible summary of scripture to help tell today's story. "Get ready" in the Jesus Storybook Bible tells the story of God's people returning from slavery found in Nehemiah 8-10, Malachi 1, 3, and 4 and Ezra 7. This story covers parts of our lessons for the next several weeks.

TELL

Israel's rejection of God and His commands led them into exile in Babylon for 70 years, yet God was merciful and continued to be with His people, promising that they would return to their homeland. Eventually, King Cyrus of Persia took over Babylon and God's people were freed from exile. Their home had been destroyed, as sin's consequences resulted in the destruction of their city. God continued to be faithful to His people and was going to rebuild what sin had destroyed. Some of God's people went home to Judah, but some of them stayed in Babylon. Nehemiah stayed and worked for the king of Persia.

One day, some men came from Judah. Nehemiah asked, "How are God's people in Jerusalem?" The men had bad news: "The people are in trouble. The walls around Jerusalem are broken down, and the gates are burned down."

Nehemiah sat down and cried. Then he spent time praying and fasting. The king noticed Nehemiah and asked, "What's wrong? Why are you sad?" Nehemiah was afraid; no one was supposed to be sad around the king. Nehemiah said, "The city where my ancestors are from is in ruins."

Re-Tell

The Bible

Put the events in order, draw a comic strip, build it with blocks or playdough, act it out, etc...

The king sent Nehemiah to Jerusalem. Nehemiah led the people to start rebuilding the walls and gates. The workers put in doors, bolts, and bars. They cut stones and lifted them into place on the wall, and they filled in gaps and holes. All around the city, people worked side by side. Soon the wall was half as tall as it had once been!

REBUILD

Not everyone was happy that Jerusalem's walls were being rebuilt. Some men who lived nearby made a plan to attack them and stop their work. God's people prayed and chose men to guard the walls all day and all night, but the people were discouraged.

Nehemiah reminded the people that God was with them. "Don't be afraid," he said. "God is great and powerful! Be ready. If our enemies attack us, God will fight for us!" Enemies could threaten God's people, but they could not make God's people stop building. Their enemies were not in charge of rebuilding the wall; God was!

God's people went back to work. Some stood guard with weapons, and others worked on the wall. Some men worked with one hand and held a weapon with the other. They were always ready to fight, just in case.

Nehemiah was a wise and good leader for God's people. In just 52 days, the wall was complete. The gates were repaired, and the wall was restored. The city was ready for more of God's people to come home. When all of Jerusalem's enemies heard that the wall had been rebuilt, they were afraid because they knew God was with His people.

Nehemiah led the people to rebuild the walls around Jerusalem to protect them from their enemies. Jesus came to protect us from our greatest enemies, sin and death. He died on the cross and rose from the dead to rescue everyone who trusts in Him.

QUESTIONS TO REBUILD THE STORY

“Storying” Questions: As you ask these questions, have your 2nd-5th grade kids find the answers in the actual verses of scripture instead of recalling them from your re-telling of the story. We always want to encourage all of our kids to go directly to God’s Word over a commentary on or summary of scripture.

1. Describe how the Israelites ended up in exile. How long were they there? How were they released?

2. What did the people attempt to accomplish as they arrived back in Jerusalem? Why was this important?

3. How were their plans thwarted? How did Nehemiah and the people respond?

4. How was the response taken by their enemies? How was God honored in the response?

5. Does trusting God mean we sit back and wait? Why not? Nehemiah trusted the Lord to accomplish the rebuilding of the wall, but he didn’t sit back and do nothing. Faith calls us to act upon what we believe. We can trust God and be reminded that He is faithful to help us follow Him in obedience.

6. What does it mean that God restores our relationship with Him?

7. What does this story teach me about God or the gospel?

8. What does this story teach me about myself?

9. Are there any commands in this story to obey? How are they for God’s glory and my good?

10. Are there promises in this story to remember? How do they help me trust and love God?

11. How does this story help me live on mission better?
